I Have Come To You

Words and Music: Robert A. Reid

Composed for the Baptism of his son, Chuck on August 13, 1978
Austin, Texas

Savior, I have come to you wanting peace within.
Seeking your forgiveness, Lord, for I know my sin.
I now understand my need your cleansing power.
Savior, I have come to you. Bless this precious hour.

Master, I have come to you in my simple way.
Giving all my heart to you, trusting you each day.
Teach me how to follow, Lord. Be my patient guide.
Master, I have come to you. Keep me by your side.

You're my Lord; you're my Master. You're my very special friend.
Since I know you as my Savior since you've come to live within

Father, thank you for your Son, Jesus Christ, my Lord.
May I always be like Him as I trust your word.
I will share my witness, Lord, with all who need your love.
Father, I have come to you; Savior and Master, too,
With a child-like faith; I have come to you.
